DECISION HISTORY

On January 11, 2017, an application to name the public lane in the block bounded by Morrison Avenue, Sellers Avenue, Hope Street and Day Avenue was received from

Cassandra Andrade, daughter of the late Henry Andrade via Councillor Palacio's office. The applicant provided the following information:

"Henrique (Henry) Manuel Andrade was born in Rabo de Piexe, Acores, Portugal on April 27, 1963 to the late Margarida and Henrique Andrade. In 1968, Henry made the move to Toronto, Canada, along with his parents and sister. Henry grew up in the Kensington Market area and met the love of his life, Iberia (Betty) Andrade.

Henry spent the majority of his life working to support his family and playing hockey on his leisure time. He worked in various job positions such as: butcher shop worker, waiter at the Royal York Hotel, landscaper, garbage truck driver and lastly, in the construction trade.

In addition, Henry was an active member in the Day Avenue Street Party committee. He was always trying to find new ways to keep the event full of entertainment but most of all unique every year! Every year prior to the Day street party Henry would put tons of effort into contacting local businesses such as "Tha Spot Dance Centre" to perform at the party, and reaching out to store managers at "Home Depot" (Caledonia Ave & Castlefield Rd location) to donate materials so that he could create interactive activities- his most famous one being a customized hockey shootout game!

Henry had many positive characteristics to describe his amazing personality. He was the happiest, kindest, caring, smartest and most down to earth person on the planet. His outstanding sense of humour and love for life were extremely contagious when you would be in his presence. Henry truly was always grateful for any opportunity that came his way and took advantage of everything life had to offer. When Henry had a job to do he would put 100% effort into completing it to the best of his ability, no matter how much time or patience was needed, the final project was always successful! During his free time Henry enjoyed playing hockey, taking pictures, travelling, and most of all, spending time with his family. He would always put his family before everything else in every way possible. Henry definitely created a wonderful impact on Day Street, but more importantly within our community.

Above all of his accomplishments, Henry was most proud of his two children, Derek and Cassandra Andrade, each of whom have grown up to have accomplished so much because of the guidance and support Henry and Betty have provided to them. They are both young adults who demonstrate the very best of his qualities in every way possible.

Henry is survived by his wife Betty, his son Derek, daughter Cassandra, and many extended family members.

To conclude, Henry was deeply admired, respected, and loved by his community, friends, and family. He was extremely giving of himself and absolutely so much fun to be around. There is no doubt that Henry is unbelievably missed by all who knew him! His light still shines within our community!"

COMMENTS

Hendry Andrade passed away on September 6, 2013. Consent was provided by his spouse, Iberia (Betty) Andrade. Community support in the form of a petition from the owners whose properties abut the lane was provided by the applicant.
