

Ayesha Stewart is a Toronto photographer of Jamaican and Trinidadian heritage. This Scarborough resident recently obtained her BFA in Photography from the Ontario College of Art and Design. Her exhibit Faceless and Nameless features a series of black and white photographs revealing the sculptural beauty of Toronto landscapes. Her series of photographs have been digitally printed and mounted.