

High Park Through the Ages: From the Carrying Place and Beyond

Dynamic, Hands-on, Interactive Learning

Supports Grade 3 curriculum expectations of Aboriginal peoples and worldviews in Science, Social Studies and The Arts

High Park Through the Ages: From the Carrying Place and Beyond

Don't miss this special, limited time opportunity to book your students into a brand new Aboriginal and Early Settler social studies program!

Students explore aspects of Aboriginal worldviews and practices, and Aboriginal and Early Settler social studies in the High Park area.

The program takes place indoors and outdoors at the south end of High Park in four carousel-style workshops.

The Native Canadian Centre of Toronto presents an Aboriginal dance workshop.

Dates: October 5 or 6, 2011

Times: 9:30 a.m. to 2:15 p.m.

Fee: $400 per class (includes taxes)

To register: Call 416-392-6916

Program partners:

High Park Nature Centre; Children's Garden Program, Toronto Parks; and City of Toronto, Colborne Lodge Museum.

High Park Through the Ages was developed with the support of the Aboriginal Education Centre of the Toronto District School Board.