COMMENTS

On August 29, 2007, applicant Ross McCague of Dial One Canada Inc. submitted a demolition permit application on behalf of the owner, Royal Bank of Canada, to demolish the residential building at 105 Crittenden Square. The owner has not made a permit application to replace the building. In a letter dated August 20, 2007, Gowlings, the solicitors for the owner, Royal Bank stated that at the time that possession of the building was taken, it was discovered that the building contained significant mould contamination. After receiving an environmental assessment, the owner determined that it was more cost effective to demolish the building and sell it as vacant land. It is contrary to Royal Bank's policy to sell the property in an "as is" condition. It is the bank's expectation that the property will be purchased by a party who has the intention of building a new house thereon.

Public Health has indicated that because of the mould contamination the applicant must submit a dust control plan for their approval prior to the demolition permit being issued.

The subject property and the abutting lands are all zoned Single-Family Residential (S) in the Malvern Community Zoning Bylaw #14402. The subject building is not listed on the City's Inventory of Heritage Properties.

This application is being referred to Scarborough Community Council because the building proposed to be demolished is a residential building and the applicant has not received a permit to replace the building. In such cases, By-law 1009-2006 requires Community Council to issue or refuse the demolition permit.
