Subject: Toronto Pedestrian Committee response to City of Toronto Pedestrian Collision Study

The Toronto Pedestrian Committee (TPC) has considered the City of Toronto Pedestrian Collision Study, published in January 2007.

A working group of the TPC has prepared a response to the report, which details additional proposals to build on the findings of the Pedestrian Collision Study.

I therefore recommend that the Toronto Pedestrian Committee:

Endorse the attached report of the Pedestrian Collision Study working group and submit it to the Public Works and Infrastructure Committee (PWIC).

Recommend to the PWIC that the city investigate the potential for programs that may address specific findings in the study, as proposed in the attached report.

Recommend to the PWIC that the city once again fund targeted pedestrian safety publicity campaigns, which will focus on problems identified in the Pedestrian Collisions Study itself and by deeper analysis of the statistics in the study.

Recommend to the PWIC that the city find ways to pursue further analysis of certain aspects of the statistics that may point to important insights into pedestrian collisions, as detailed in the attached report.

Request that the TPC's response be associated with the Pedestrian Collision Report for future reference.

Yours truly,

Dylan Reid
