Organization # 13: Children's Peace Theatre
305 Dawes Road East, Toronto

Organization Overview:

The organization brings together children, youth, adults and elders to work collaboratively with professional artists. Together they create performance material that is based on participants' reflections and experiences of conflict at the personal, familial, communal and global levels. Activities include theatre programs, conflict resolution workshops and professional theatre productions. The organization provides services in Crescent Town bounded by Main St., Victoria Park, Danforth Ave. and Brenton St. The organization reported a 2008 operating budget of $215,000.00. This organization is located in Ward 31 (Beaches-East York).

Project Name: Peace in Action

This project works to address the issue of youth violence in Crescent Town by encouraging youth to develop a broader perspective regarding tolerance of others by exposing them to people who have suffered the effects of violence in another country. Through an effort to understand the causes and manifestations of conflict, participants will be better able to create the conditions for peace and non-violence in their community. The project engages youth through collaborative exploration and creation workshops, through leadership training and mentorship opportunities, through public performance and through the development of a "Peace in Action Manifesto." The goal of this project is to engage youth in a transformative process to develop the understanding and tools to further the cause of peace in this community. Project activities include: workshops; performances in schools and in public venues; a day Speak Out Festival; International Peace Festival, and the development of the peace manifesto.

This project will involve 1650 hours of paid staff time, 20 volunteers, and 180 participants.

Target Group:

Organization # 50: Shakespeare in Action

109 Gore Vale Avenue, Toronto

Organization Overview:

The organization is a multi-racial theatre company that aspires to enhance the arts and education through exploring and performing Shakespeare's plays. It is dedicated to fostering literacy, enhancing creativity, and promoting speech arts by making Shakespeare accessible and relevant to young audiences, their families and their communities. The organization reported a 2008 operating budget of $245,436.00. This organization is located in Ward 19 (Trinity-Spadina).

Project Name: Shakespeare Fight Club

This project works to stem the cycle of violence involving at risk young people in Jane/Finch. It will help youth find a positive cultural place in their communities by empowering them to understand the effects of conflict and violence and learn to mitigate conflict and violent situations through communication, respect and creativity. The goal of this project is to give a voice to youth by blending classical stage techniques with art forms that commonly form the basis of a urban youth culture, empowering participants by giving them a sense of ownership over their creative work and by making Shakespeare and the outcomes of violence in his works, accessible and relevant to their everyday experience. Project activities include: outreach; training; creation and rehearsal of a stage production; personal counselling; and mentorship. Over six weeks of rigorous training in stage combat and Shakespeare scene work, urban art forms such as break-dancing will be combined with classical performance techniques to provide a new perspective on the violence that affects youth. Through taking part in the project, youth learn self confidence, discipline and social and relationship skills that they can employ in everyday situations.

This project will involve 750 hours of paid staff time, 5 volunteers, and 24 participants.
