COMMENTS

On February 13, 2009, Renny Connon of Daniel Johnson Architect., as applicant for the owners, 1724671 Ontario Ltd., applied for a permit to demolish the two storey single family dwelling building at 493 Parliament Street.

No objection has been received regarding the proposed demolition. There is no permit issued for a replacement building at the property.

493 Parliament Street is part of an overall development plan for a 3 storey non residential building. The project is illustrated in drawings SK 1 to 6,. Attached is a letter from the applicant outlining the reason for the request to demolish. The development is going through Site Plan review and is near the final stages of completion. The owner wishes to demolish the 3 storey residential building at 493 Parliament Street in order to meet important construction timelines.

The application is being referred to the Toronto and East York Community Council because the City's record indicates the building contains one residential unit and no building permit for a replacement building has been issued. In such cases, the Municipal Code requires the City Council or Community Council to issue or refuse the demolition permit.

In accordance with Section 2 of the City of Toronto Act, 1991(No.4), c. Pr24, S.O.1991, Toronto and East York Community Council may impose any reasonable conditions which have regard to the nature of the residential property including the preservation of significant natural features and requiring the erection and maintenance of structures and enclosures. In addition, under the City of Toronto Act 1985, City Council may revoke the demolition permit if the demolition has not seriously commenced six months after permit issuance, or the demolition has been substantially suspended or discontinued for a period of more than one year.
