Further to our letter of May 4, 2010 (attached), this communication provides extensive documentation of the architectural and historical value of the 79 Dawlish property. The other attachments are as follows:

- nomination form for 79 Dawlish Ave
- research notes supporting the nomination form
- a recent photograph
- several photographs from the January 1929 article in Canadian Homes and Gardens
- photos of several architectural drawings from the North Toronto Historical Society Archives
- letter dated May 17, 2010 from Marta O'Brien describing the architecture of the house and giving biographical details of Forsey Page

Please note that the property was recommended for designation at the May 17 meeting of the NYCPP - the May 4 letter erroneously said that NYCPP recommended the property for listing AND designation on April 21.

My thanks to Alex Grenzebach (416 483-8475) and Lynda Moon for their extensive work on researching and arranging the documentation.

Your urgent attention to this file is appreciated.
