COMMENTS

The City of Toronto recognizes and respects the unique status and cultural diversity among the Indigenous/Aboriginal communities in Toronto. The City continues its commitment to supporting the Aboriginal right to self-determination by working inclusively with First Nations, Inuit and Métis in Toronto.

The Aboriginal Affairs Advisory Committee's mandate is to provide advice to City Council on the elimination of barriers faced by First Nations, Inuit and Métis including barriers related to City by-laws, policies, programs and service delivery and to act as a liaison with external bodies on barriers to the participation of Aboriginal peoples in public life while advancing the achievement of social, cultural, economic and the spiritual wellbeing of First Nations, Inuit and Métis.

Composition of the Aboriginal Affairs Advisory Committee

The Aboriginal Affairs Advisory Committee is composed of up to 25 members:

- one members of City Council
- 24 representatives of Indigenous/Aboriginal organizations

Committee members must be eligible and meet certain qualifications

In addition to the general eligibility requirements set out in the Public Appointments Policy, public members appointed to the Advisory Committee will be representative of Indigenous organizations in Toronto.

Continuity of Service

To continue the effective work of the Aboriginal Affairs Advisory Committee, the reconstituted advisory body includes 50% returning members from the previous membership group. It is intended that this composition will preserve institutional learning achieved in the previous term regarding how best to work with the City, while at the same time encouraging fresh voices and diverse perspectives contributed by new members who represent additional important sectors in the Indigenous community (ex. arts/culture, business, youth).

The Indigenous Affairs office is currently working to fill the additional seats in order to have the diversity of the Aboriginal Community represented fully on the Committee.

Term of Office

The term of office for public members to the Aboriginal Affairs Advisory Committee is 4 years, coinciding with the term of City Council. Therefore, the public members appointed to Aboriginal Affairs Advisory Committee would serve, at the pleasure of Council, a term ending November 14, 2022, and until successors are appointed.

How appointments to advisory bodies are governed

The appointment of public members to the City's advisory bodies falls under the Public Appointment Policy. Members are appointed by City Council on recommendation of the Civic Appointments Committee for members of the public and Striking Committee for the members of City Council.

Public release of names of recommended candidates

The names of the recommended candidates will be publicly reported once the Civic Appointments Committee forwards its recommendations to City Council.
