

Cedar Waxwing

Total collected by FLAP volunteers – 228 between 1993 & Spring 2006

The Cedar Waxwing is one of the most frugivorous birds in North America. Many aspects of its life, from its nomadic habits to its late breeding season, may be traced to its dependence upon fruit.

credit: M. Peck

