

Golden-crowned Kinglet

Total collected by FLAP volunteers – 3,439 between 1993 & Spring 2006

A tiny, continuously active bird, the Golden-crowned Kinglet is most frequently found in coniferous woods. Despite being barely larger than a hummingbird, the kinglet winters northward to Canada and Alaska.

credit: Carol L. Edwards

