

Cedar Waxwing (Bombycilla cedrorum)
 The Cedar Waxwing needs in open woodland and overgrown fields where it feeds on flying insects, nuts and berries.

American Redstart (Setophaga ruticilla)
 The American Redstart needs in open woodlands, where a thick cover of shrubs and saplings beneath the tree canopy provides a safe haven from predators.

Common Yellowthroat (Geothlypis trichas)
 The Common Yellowthroat lives in wet meadows and riparian areas. It feeds on flying insects such as mosquitoes, moths and dragonflies.

HUMBERWOOD PARKLAND

Prepared by: The Planning Partnership