

White-throated Sparrow

Total collected by FLAP volunteers – 5,779 between 1993 & Spring 2006

The White-throated Sparrow sings its breeding song of “Oh Sweet Canada Canada Canada” across most of the country. Although its breeding range barely extends outside of Canada, it is common in fields and hedgerows throughout the eastern United States in winter. It is found in urban areas more frequently than other sparrows.

credit: Carol L. Edwards

