

ST LAWRENCE MARKET NORTH BUILDING

The St. Lawrence Market has been a focal point of community life in the City of Toronto for over 200 years and for much of that period has encompassed two market structures separated by Front Street – a South Market building, which from 1845 to the end of that century was integrated with the Town Hall, and a separate North Market building, which, while being the previous site of the Town Hall (1831-1845), had been, since the mid-19th century until 1967, closely associated with St. Lawrence Hall.

EAST SITE ELEVATION

SOUTH SITE ELEVATION

01

SPRING/FALL EQUINOX

"The site is extremely important as the location of the city market for over 200 years (since approximately 1804) with the first of four market buildings having been constructed in 1820."

