

An artistic illustration of a water beetle floating on a small, white and orange life preserver in a pool of water. The water is dark and contains several small bubbles. Below the water line, a lush green lawn is visible, with some blades of grass showing signs of being eaten. In the background, a blurred image of a white metal chair is visible. The overall scene suggests a connection between lawn care and water usage.

Watering your lawn too much?

Once a week is enough. For more information visit www.city.toronto.on.ca/water or call 416-397-LAWN.