STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE REASONS FOR DESIGNATION 33 Sussex Avenue

Reasons for Designation

Located on the south side of Sussex Avenue between Huron Street and Spadina Avenue, in the Huron-Sussex neighbourhood in the northwest quadrant of the University of Toronto's St. George Campus, the property at 33 Sussex Avenue contains a house-form building fashioned in the Second Empire architectural style. With the neighbouring properties at 29 and 31 Sussex Avenue, it is part of a trio of originally identical properties that were constructed in 1879. From the late-19th century, the houses have been associated with the University of Toronto, as the homes of several generations of professors and as student housing.

The property at 33 Sussex Avenue was listed on the Heritage Register in November 2016 along with the property at 29 Sussex Avenue.

The adjacent property at 31 Sussex Avenue was included on the City of Toronto's Inventory of Heritage Properties (now known as the Heritage Register) in 1973.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value

Design/Physical Value

The property at 33 Sussex Avenue has design value and is one of three properties which comprise a rare trio of house-form buildings that are representative examples of the Second Empire style with towers located within the Huron-Sussex neighbourhood. The style is evident in the mansard roof, the tower, the polychromatic brick cladding and chaine detailing in the tower, the decorative windows, the wood brackets and pierced lintels. In its overall form and massing as well as in design elements, the subject property also displays a high degree of craftsmanship.

Historical/Associative Value

The property has historical value as it contributes to an understanding of the unique character of the late-19th century Huron-Sussex neighbourhood within the University of Toronto St. George campus, which is defined by its residential streetscapes and low-rise collection of house-form buildings. Following the subdivision and sale of the William Warren Baldwin and Robert Baldwin estates, the area was transformed from market gardens to a residential enclave. The property at 33 Sussex Avenue, along with the adjacent 29 and 31 Sussex Avenue properties, comprise the earliest surviving houses on Sussex Avenue and survive today as a remnant of a larger Victorian residential neighbourhood that spanned to the south and which was redeveloped as part of the West Campus expansion by the University of Toronto.

Contextual Value

Contextually, the property at 33 Sussex Avenue is important in defining and supporting the late-19th century residential scale and character of the Huron-Sussex neighbourhood which is primarily comprised of single-family houses of 2-3 stories, characterized by complex massing, varied materials and richly detailed elements. The property is physically, visually and historically linked to its surroundings, maintaining the integrity of the historic neighbourhood streetscape while contributing to its variety as part of a distinctive Second Empire style trio commonly referred to as the “Three Sisters.”
