PROPOSAL

The City of Toronto is proposing to enact amendments to Zoning By-law 569-2013 being the Zoning By-law for the City of Toronto which regulates the use of the land, the size and location of buildings and structures, parking and loading. These amendments: reduce the visitor parking space requirement for multiple dwelling unit buildings; reinstate a visitor parking space requirement for mixed use buildings; clarify wording for outdoor patios in the CR and CRE zones; create general residential zone category regulation for first floor size and location requirement based on the definition of first floor; amend the definition of first floor by removing (B) and (C) and consolidate (A) into the introductory text.

These changes may affect the approval of building permits, zoning certificates or other applications for a minor variance, a consent to sever, an amendment to a zoning by-law, an Official Plan amendment, a Minister's zoning order or for approval of a plan of subdivision and any appeals of these matters and outstanding appeals of Zoning By-law 569-2013. All land owners and applicants should review the proposed amendments to Zoning By-law 569-2013 carefully, and consult with your professional advisors about the proposed changes and how they may impact your lands or development applications.
