Good Afternoon,

We've recently learned that the Public Works and Infrastructure Committee is going to be reviewing a "Traffic Calming Manual" on November 12, 2015.

As residents of the City of Toronto, we absolutely believe that this manual would be helpful for us and help us positively and productively engage with councilors, local police and the municipality.

Currently, we find it very difficult to learn about different traffic calming measures and how to engage with the city on improving the safety on residential streets. I can only imagine the time and effort each Councillor (and their team) put into responding to the same resident questions over and over!

Please consider approving the development of a "Traffic Calming Manual" as we believe it will streamline the process, create a more informed citizen base and increase satisfaction scores with the city by managing expectations & improving the productivity of citizens getting to real solutions.

Kind regards,
Meghan
