

PLANNED ENGAGEMENTS

The feasibility study requires engagements with a number of stakeholders and TCFNCC is committed to a shared Stakeholder Engagement Plan with the City of Toronto as the TLSH space is part of a predominant public & civic space. The IRSS Legacy Celebration on October 9 to 11, 2018 will be used for engagement and outreach events for the primary users of the space, the Toronto Aboriginal Support Services Council (TASSC) and the wider Indigenous community in Toronto.

Stakeholder	Description	Status
Residential school survivors	Survivors have been consulted and engaged from the beginning of the IRSS Legacy Project. There have been two formal engagements with Survivors.	Ongoing
Nathan Phillips Square Community Advisory Committee (NPSCAC)	Held Meeting with NPSCAC on February 6, 2018 and decision was made to create subcommittee for IRSS Legacy. Letter was drafted by Scott Mullin on behalf of NPSCAC to Mike Williams on February 12, 2018 in support of IRSS Legacy with additional advice to City Staff and Council.	Completed
Law Society of Ontario (Osgoode Hall)	As one of the adjacent property owners, the Law Society of Ontario will be approached and engaged for consultation on the IRSS Legacy project.	TBD
Sheraton Centre	As one of the adjacent property owners, the Law Society of Ontario will be approached and engaged for consultation on the IRSS Legacy project.	TBD
Aboriginal Affairs Committee (AAC)	The IRSS Legacy project was first introduced to the AAC on May 12, 2017. A Decision Letter outlining support for the project	Completed and commitment from the City of Toronto was requested. A second engagement & presentation was made to the AAC on April 20, 2018.

Public Consultation & Users of Nathan Phillips Square	TCFNCC in collaboration with the City of Toronto will use the IRSS Legacy Celebration on October 9 – 11, 2018 as a three-day public consultation & engagement opportunity. Indigenous Community Public Consultation Toronto Aboriginal Support Services Council (TASSC)	October 9 – 11, 2018