To Whom It May Concern:

Toronto Music Passport: Winter Session is the second iteration of this bi-annual event series, showcasing the best from live music venues in downtown Toronto. We kindly request for this event to be designated as municipally significant.

This event series is industry-led and unlike any music festival, designed to occur during slow periods of the year in mid-summer and mid-winter in order to boost economic activity and improve venue sustainability. Some businesses will apply to extend their hours of operation from 2am-4am on select dates. Eligibility for extended licensing will vary according to each venue's feature programming schedule.
