Subject: Toronto Music Passport: Winter Session 2019
Date: January 29, 2019 2:45:17 AM

To Whom It May Concern:

Toronto Music Passport: Winter Session 2019 is the fourth iteration of this bi-annual event series, showcasing the best from live music venues in downtown Toronto. We kindly request for this event to be designated as municipally significant.

This event series is an industry-led concert series unlike any music festival, designed to occur during slow periods of the year in mid-summer and mid-winter in order to boost economic activity and improve venue sustainability. Some businesses will apply to extend their hours of operation from 2am-4am on select dates, which allows for additional live music programming and extra incentive for patrons to attend social venues during otherwise slow times of year. Approximately half of participating venues apply for extended licensing, and have repeatedly given testimonials that their businesses would have suffered losses or faced closure if not for this unique event series that was prompted by the venue closure crisis of early 2017. The wake of closures subsequently stopped due to important measures, such as this series, that assist venues precisely when they need it most. Eligibility for extended licensing varies according to each venue's feature programming schedule, and is limited to venues with a history of safe late night operations.
