COMMENTS

Background

Reserves and reserve funds represent the City's funds, which have accumulated over time and may be used to replace capital assets, provide a measure of financial flexibility to react to budget shortfalls, and to address the financial impacts of significant unexpected issues in a timely manner.

Deferred revenues (obligatory reserve funds) represent funds received by the City that are recognized as earned revenue only after the delivery of required performance obligations. Deferred revenues represent liabilities that the City must settle in the future.

A properly balanced approach to the planning and use of reserves and reserve funds is considered good financial management and is a key component of the City's strong credit rating. The City has a formal policy, align with best practices, to support the stewardship and oversight of reserves and reserve funds, and demonstrate accountability.

A summary of the major financial balances that are referenced throughout this report, is as follows:

- Deferred revenue (obligatory reserve funds): advance payment for goods and/or services that the City has not yet provided to a government, government organization, third-party entity, or individual. Use of deferred revenues are restricted to activities or stipulations specified in a legislation, contract, or agreement. These balances earn interest, and are reported as a liability in the City's consolidated financial statements.
- Reserve: an allocation of accumulated net revenue, which can be set aside for a specific use and does not reflect earned interest. Reserves are disclosed in the City's accumulated surplus in the City's consolidated financial statements.
- Council-directed reserve fund: funds earning interest income that have been set aside in response to a by-law. Similar to reserves, Council-directed reserve funds are a component of the City's accumulated surplus, which is disclosed in the consolidated financial statements.

Deferred revenues (obligatory reserve funds), reserves, and Council-directed reserve funds are impacted by the following types of transactions, which occur throughout the year:

- Budgeted transfers: fund inflows and outflows made in accordance with Council's approvals during the regular budgeting cycle, or through ad hoc requests.
- Deferred revenue changes: receipt of cash payments made prior to the City's provision of a good and/or service, as well as reduction of the overall balance to account for amounts earned as revenue subsequent to the satisfaction of a legislative requirement or terms and conditions of a third-party contract or agreement.
- Loans from deferred revenues (obligatory reserve funds), reserves, and reserve funds to finance various operating and capital programs (e.g. Residential Energy Retrofit Pilot) using interest-free or low interest arrangements. The loans are managed through formalized agreements and are repayable back to the deferred revenue (obligatory reserve fund), reserve, or reserve fund within five to 50 years.
- Interest income allocations: earnings allocated to deferred revenues (obligatory reserve funds) and Council-directed reserve funds on an annual basis based on the interest forecasted to be earned from three-month Treasury Bills at the time of the preparation of the annual operating budget.

Deferred revenues (obligatory reserve funds), reserves and reserve funds balance as at June 30, 2020

As at June 30, 2020, the City recognized a deferred revenues (obligatory reserve funds), reserves, and reserve funds balance of $6,837.1 million (2019: $6,059.0 million); this balance includes loans receivables of $70.6 million. The City's deferred revenues (obligatory reserve funds), reserves, and reserve funds balance increased by $778.1 million or 13 per cent, which resulted mainly from the following activities:

- Transfer of $457.1 million from Water and Wastewater programs to the Water and Wastewater Capital Reserve Fund for capital financing;

- Receipt of $163.0 million of development charges, park levies and Section 37 funds;
- Contribution of $45.7 million to the City Building Reserve Fund from Non-program;
- Contributions of $41.7 million to the Vehicle & Equipment Replacement Reserve from operating divisions during the first six months of the year.

The City will allocate interest income to the deferred revenue (obligatory reserve funds) and Council-directed reserve fund balances at year-end. The 2020 rate decreased slightly to 1.57% from 1.65% in 2019.

The following table summarizes the City's total deferred revenue (obligatory reserve funds), reserve, and reserve fund balance, which includes loans receivable balances, as at June 30, 2020, with a comparison to December 31, 2019.
