

"Toronto can do better!" That's what Members of Council keep saying.

Mayor Chow before being elected wouldn't say how much she would raise taxes. Now we're about to find out.

Councillor Carroll, just on CP24, cheerfully states she wants to make this a city her grandchildren will want to live in. That won't happen unless she wills her property and money bags to them.

Young people today can't afford to buy a house and many are making the decision not to have children. They don't want to bring children into this mess that Toronto City Councils have made!

A 9% Property tax plus a Sewage and Water tax increase plus a 6% tax increase because the Federal government refuses to support Toronto insisting it must continue to be SANCTUARY CITY OF CANADA! (OOPS, forgot the Building Fund increase.)

A 6 ounce glass can hold 6 ounces, not 6,000 gallons! To try this trick would create a mess that we have now!

Toronto City Councillors need to exhibit a duty of care for the people of Toronto and realize our limitations.

If Mayor Chow wants to make an honest statement she should tell the Prime Minister and Premier of Ontario we are not wealthy enough to take so many newcomers. She would make more friends that way and wouldn't have to do the happy social media events like skating on her ankles in Nathan Phillips Square.

Little Canada, with 40 million people and only half of them getting out of bed five days a week to go to work to take care of their families and then contribute to three levels of government when they will never have enough revenues to support three levels of government who want to show such largesse to newcomers without over taxing Canadians who do live and work here.

Oh it is so sad all those refugees filling up the Bond Place Hotel and all of the shelters. Yet no sympathy for the Canadians living and working here all of their lives and wondering how close they are to losing their homes and what must they give up to put food on the table.

WOW! You're actually going to allow public consultations? Do the other Councillors and City Staff know about this?
