	Jamaal Myers, seconded by Councillor Josh Matlow			residential developments (up to 6 units) until April 2027 to encourage housing creation. The changes also exempt these additional units from parkland dedication fees during the same period. Any Garden and Laneway Suites with existing fee deferral agreements will continue to benefit from those deferrals and won't count toward the total unit calculation. Furthermore, it directs Chief Planner and Executive Director, City Planning to consider opportunities for permitting permeable paving with plants to count as landscaping for multiplex developments in suburban wards, particularly for parking areas. This motion is not expected to have incremental financial impact on the City. The City provides an existing DC exemption for up to 4 units within a fourplex. Should the motion be amended to extend the development charge exemption to the first six units, rather than four, there is expected to be an incremental financial impact of $2.8 million in foregone revenue, based on anticipated development activity between now and early 2027. Staff will be considering this as part of the Comprehensive Development Charges Review and report back with any recommended adjustments to long-term approaches and applicable financial impacts. There is not expected to be any impacts to planned capital projects.
