Dear Mayor Chow, Councillor Bravo, Councillor Carroll, and Members of the Economic and Community Development Committee,

I am writing to you in support of the open letter by Coalition for Responsible Community Development (CRCD) to respectfully urge your support for advancing community-led, equity-based planning through the citywide implementation of Social Development Plans (SDPs).

As you consider matters related to community development, safety, and economic opportunity, we wish to highlight a critical and timely opportunity: aligning the City's policy commitments with sustained investment in neighbourhood-level infrastructure that delivers measurable outcomes.

From Evidence to Action

Toronto has developed strong data, research, and planning frameworks over many years. However, as we emphasized in our recent submission, there remains a persistent gap between evidence and implementation.

Communities, particularly those disproportionately impacted by poverty, housing instability, and systemic anti-Black racism have consistently identified their priorities. Yet too often, responses have been:

- Fragmented
- Short-term
- Under-resourced

To move forward, evidence must be matched with sustained, community-led investment.

A Proven Model: Social Development Plans

The Regent Park Social Development Plan (SDP) demonstrates what is possible when planning is:

- Resident-led
- Place-based
- Data-informed
- Supported through cross-sector collaboration

This model has contributed to:

- Strengthened community safety and cohesion
- Increased youth engagement and employment pathways
- Improved coordination across services
- Measurable outcomes, including a significant reduction in violence

SDPs are not theoretical, they are proven, scalable solutions that align directly with the City's goals.

Key Requests from the Coalition

We respectfully call on the Committee to support the following:

1. Citywide Implementation of SDPs by 2027

- Expand Social Development Plans / Community Development Plans across priority neighbourhoods
- Establish a clear implementation framework with defined timelines

2. Stable, Multi-Year Funding

- Allocate $250,000–$500,000 annually per neighbourhood
- Ensure funding is sustained, predictable, and embedded in future City budgets

3. Embed SDPs into City Systems

- Integrate SDPs into planning, budgeting, and interdivisional coordination
- Align efforts across housing, public health, employment, and community safety

4. Advance Equity and Anti-Racism

- Incorporate race-disaggregated data and equity metrics
- Align implementation with the Toronto Action Plan to Confront Anti-Black Racism
- Resource Black-led and equity-deserving community organizations

5. Strengthen Accountability and Governance

- Support resident-led governance tables
- Establish clear outcome metrics and public reporting mechanisms
- Ensure transparency and ongoing community oversight

Why This Matters Now

Toronto is at a pivotal moment.

We are facing intersecting challenges:

- Rising housing insecurity
- Increasing cost of living
- Growing pressures on community safety and well-being

At the same time, we have a tested model and a clear pathway forward.

Investing in Social Development Plans is not only a matter of equity, it is a fiscally responsible strategy that prioritizes prevention, coordination, and long-term impact.

Conclusion

We urge the Economic and Community Development Committee to take leadership in advancing this work by:

- Endorsing the citywide expansion of SDPs
- Advocating for sustained funding in upcoming budget cycles
- Embedding community-led planning as core City infrastructure

Toronto has done the analysis.

Now is the time to act, boldly, collaboratively, and with community at the centre.

We would welcome the opportunity to meet with you to discuss this further and support the Committee in advancing these recommendations.

Sincerely,

Walied Khogali Ali

Submission to the Confronting Anti-Black Racism Advisory Committee (CABRAC)

Dear Chair and Members of CABRAC,

On behalf of the Regent Park Neighbourhood Association (RPNA), we are pleased to provide this submission in response to Item 2026.CR9.3 – Advancing Community Development through Evidence-Based Planning.

We commend City staff for advancing a presentation that highlights the importance of data-driven, place-based, and community-informed approaches to improving outcomes across Toronto’s neighbourhoods.

At the same time, we emphasize that evidence-based planning must be explicitly grounded in equity, accountability, and sustained investment, particularly in communities most impacted by systemic anti-Black racism.

1. From Evidence to Action: The Need for Equity-Centred Implementation

The City of Toronto has developed strong analytical frameworks and datasets over the past two decades. However, the gap between evidence and implementation remains a critical challenge.

For communities such as Regent Park and other Neighbourhood Improvement Areas:

- Data has consistently identified disparities in housing, employment, safety, and health
- Community priorities have been clearly articulated through consultations and planning processes
- Yet, funding and implementation have often been fragmented, time-limited, or inconsistent

Evidence alone does not drive change, resourced, community-led implementation does.

2. Social Development Plans (SDPs) as a Proven Model

The Regent Park Social Development Plan (SDP) stands as a leading example of how evidence-based planning can translate into measurable, community-level outcomes.

Key impacts include:

- Strengthened community safety and cohesion
- Increased youth engagement and employment pathways
- Improved coordination between residents, service providers, and institutions
- A demonstrated reduction in violence, including zero gun-related deaths in 2023

What distinguishes the SDP model is that it is:

- Resident-led
- Place-based
- Data-informed
- Sustained through multi-sector collaboration

This model directly aligns with the City’s stated goals in advancing transformational, neighbourhood-level change.

3. Addressing Anti-Black Racism Through Community Development

CABRAC’s mandate—aligned with the United Nations International Decade for People of African Descent—calls for advancing:

- Recognition
- Justice
- Development

Evidence-based community planning must therefore:

- Include race-disaggregated data to identify inequities
- Prioritize investments in communities disproportionately impacted by systemic barriers
- Ensure that Black-led and Black-serving organizations are resourced and empowered
- Embed accountability mechanisms to measure progress on anti-Black racism

Without this lens, evidence-based planning risks reinforcing existing inequities rather than dismantling them.

4. The Case for Citywide Scaling of SDPs by 2027

Building on the success of Regent Park, RPNA strongly supports a citywide expansion of Social Development Plans (SDPs) / Community Development Plans (CDPs).

We recommend:

- Implementing SDPs across all priority neighbourhoods by 2027
- Allocating stable, multi-year funding of $250,000–$500,000 per neighbourhood annually
- Embedding SDPs within City planning, budgeting, and interdivisional coordination frameworks
- Ensuring governance structures include resident leadership and accountability mechanisms

This approach transforms evidence into action by creating local infrastructure for prevention, coordination, and long-term impact.

5. Strengthening Accountability and Coordination

To fully realize the potential of evidence-based planning, the City must:

- Improve interdivisional coordination (housing, safety, employment, health, and social services)
- Establish clear outcome metrics tied to equity and anti-racism goals
- Regularly report on progress to Council and the public
- Support community governance tables to ensure transparency and responsiveness

Community development is most effective when it is co-governed with residents, not simply delivered to them.

6. Recommendations to CABRAC

The Regent Park Neighbourhood Association respectfully recommends that CABRAC:

1. Endorse the citywide expansion of Social Development Plans (SDPs) as a core strategy for advancing equitable, evidence-based community development
 2. Advocate for sustained, multi-year funding to support implementation in priority neighbourhoods
 3. Call for the integration of race-disaggregated data and anti-Black racism metrics into all community development planning and reporting frameworks
 4. Support resident-led governance models to ensure accountability, transparency, and community ownership
 5. Recommend alignment with the Toronto Action Plan to Confront Anti-Black Racism and relevant Ontario Human Rights Commission guidance

7. Conclusion

Toronto has built a strong foundation in evidence-based planning.

The next step is clear:

To move from analysis to action, from pilot projects to sustained systems, and from consultation to community-led implementation.

The Social Development Plan model provides a roadmap for achieving this.

We urge CABRAC to take leadership in advancing this approach and ensuring that evidence-based planning delivers equitable, measurable, and lasting outcomes for all communities.

About the Regent Park Neighbourhood Association

The RPNA seeks to foster an inclusive, diverse and healthy neighbourhood in which all residents feel at home. The RPNA also recognizes that Toronto Community Housing (TCH) residents had a vibrant community in Regent Park prior to the redevelopment and seeks to build on that history of grassroots initiatives, resident led ventures, and strong networks. To ensure that this heritage is not lost, TCH residents serve in half of the RPNA Leadership Team positions. The RPNA's advocacy was central in negotiating and winning a commitment from TCHC to include a $26.8M Community Benefits Agreement as part of Phase 4 and 5 of revitalization in Regent Park.

The RPNA seeks to foster an inclusive, diverse and healthy community through...

1. ADVOCACY - to provide a strong voice for residents on issues that will benefit our entire community.
2. COMMUNITY BUILDING - to bring our culturally diverse and mixed-income community together.
3. COMMUNICATION - So much is happening in Regent Park! It's important to keep residents informed.
