The Mayor and Members of Toronto City Council are deeply saddened to learn of the passing of Boris Gurevich on July 25, 2026, at the age of 85.

Boris Gurevich was a respected member of Toronto's Jewish Russian-speaking community, remembered for his wisdom, kindness, intelligence, and unwavering commitment to those around him. Known for his humour and generosity of spirit, he touched the lives of family, friends, and community members alike.

A survivor of the Siege of Leningrad during the Second World War, Boris endured extraordinary hardship and adversity. Throughout his life, he carried forward the resilience forged during those difficult years while remaining dedicated to principles of compassion, justice, and service to others.

Boris also served as Vice-President of the Canadian Association of World War II Veterans from the Soviet Union, where he worked to preserve the memory of wartime experiences and honour the sacrifices made by veterans. Through his leadership and advocacy, he helped ensure that the stories and contributions of a generation that endured immense hardship would not be forgotten.

The passing of Boris Gurevich is a loss not only to his family and friends, but also to the broader Toronto community. His life serves as a testament to perseverance, service, and the enduring strength of the human spirit.

The City Clerk is requested to convey, on behalf of the Members of Toronto City Council, our sincere sympathy to the family, friends, and loved ones of Boris Gurevich, and to all members of the community mourning his passing.
