by Toronto City Council

Moved by: Councillor Brad Bradford

Seconded by: Councillor James Pasternak

The Mayor and Members of Toronto City Council are deeply saddened to learn of the passing of Melvyn Wolfond on July 4, 2026. A beloved husband, brother, father, uncle, grandfather, great-grandfather, uncle, and friend, Melvyn was a man whose kindness, generosity, and wisdom touched the lives of many.

Melvyn was born to Esther and Joseph Wolfond and was a longtime member of the Jewish community in Guelph and Toronto. He shared an extraordinary marriage of nearly 70 years with his beloved wife, Pedie. Together, they built Melvyn's greatest joy: his family. Melvyn had great pride and devotion for his three sons, Henry, Greg, and Chad, and was a deeply loved Zaida and great-grandfather. He took immense pride in watching it grow and flourish across generations.

Melvyn was a respected member and contributor to the Jewish community. He was involved in numerous initiatives, including chairing the United Jewish Appeal Campaign and the development of the Wolfond Centre for Jewish Life at the University of Toronto. Through his leadership and commitment, he helped strengthen institutions that continue to serve generations of Torontonians. He was also a source of encouragement, advice, and support to countless people throughout his life, including students, colleagues, friends, and members of the broader community.

Those who knew Melvyn remembered him as a kind, gentle, humble, and generous man with a sharp wit, a warm spirit, and a remarkable ability to make time for others. His friendships spanned decades and generations, and he was known for his unwavering devotion to his family and willingness to support those around him. His enduring love for Pedie, the family they built together, and the values and traditions he passed down to his children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren constitute a lasting legacy of love, integrity, compassion, and respect.

The City Clerk is requested to convey, on behalf of the Members of Toronto City Council, our sincere sympathy to Melvyn's wife, Pedie; his sons, Henry (Rochelle), Greg (Linda), and Chad (Lisa, z"l); his grandchildren, Serena (JB), Joseph (Sophie), Max (Erin), Maddie (Jason), Adam, Jamie (Sam), Annie, Dean, Oliver (Jasmine), and Ellie; his great-grandchildren, Cory, Jesse, Shelby, Abigail, Olivia, Winona, Sage, Hart, and Robin; his sister, Phyllis (Lou); and his extended family and many friends.
