R

No. 476-90. A BY-LAW

*To designate the property at 2205 Queen Street East

(Passed September 10, 1990.)

Whereas by Clause 3 of Neighbourhoods Committee Report No. 11, adopted by Council at its meeting held on September 10, 1990, authority was granted to designate the property at 2205 Queen Street East (The Scadding Confectionery) of architectural value or interest; and

Whereas the Ontario Heritage Act authorizes the Council of a municipality to enact by-laws to designate real property, including all the buildings and structures thereon, to be of historic or architectural value or interest; and

Whereas the reasons for designation are set out in Schedule "B" hereto; and

Whereas no notice of objection to the said proposed designation has been served upon the clerk of the municipality;

The said land being most recently described in Instrument CT837062.

"Schedule "B"

Reasons for the designation of the property at 2205 Queen Street East (The Scadding Confectionery).

2205 QUEEN STREET EAST (The Scadding Confectionery)

The property at 2205 Queen Street East is designated on architectural grounds. The Scadding Confectionery was constructed in 1906 for Charles E. Scadding by builder William Johnston according to the designs of Toronto architect Edwin R. Babington. Scadding operated a business on the first floor and occupied the upper floors until 1909, when he sold the site.

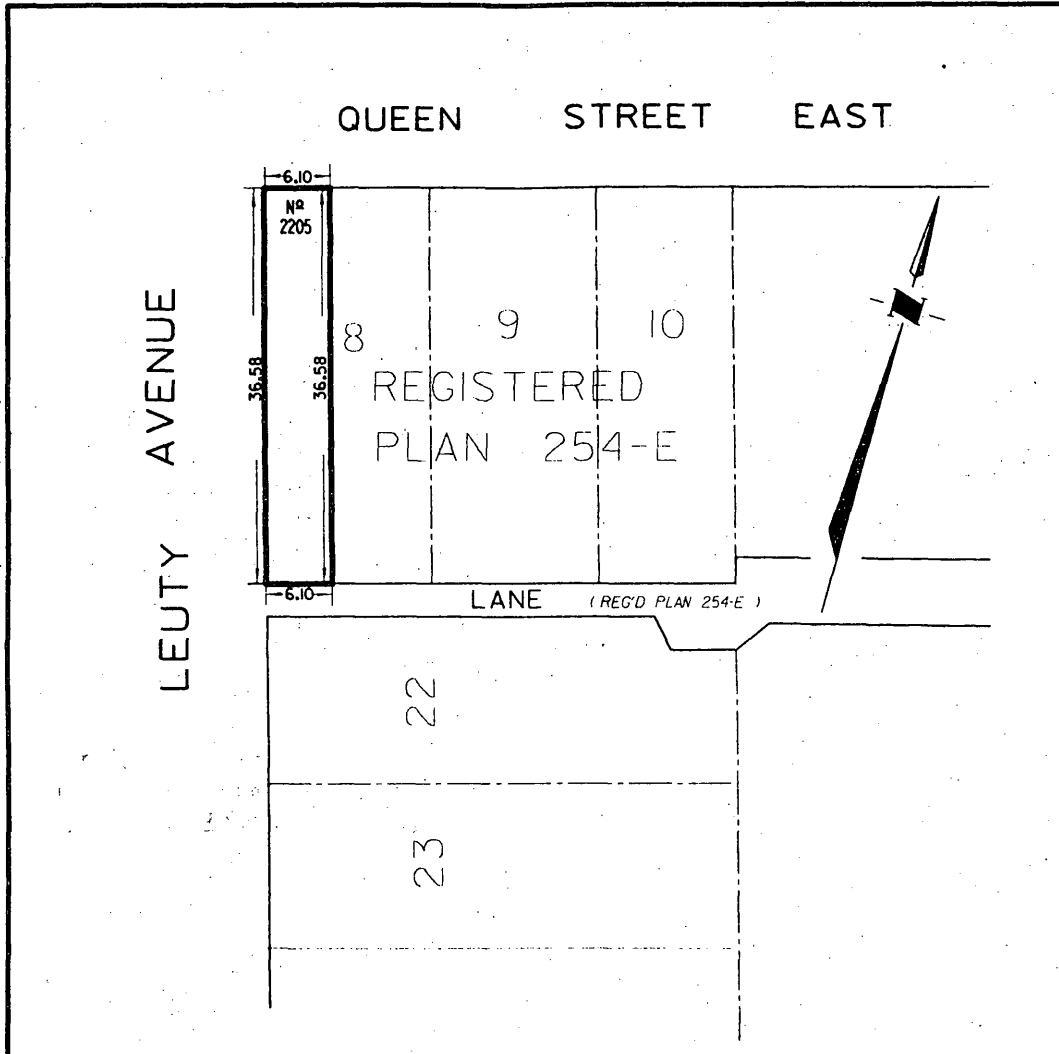

The 2½ storey building was constructed in brick, a material used sparingly in the area until the 1920s. The freestanding house form displays Queen Anne features. The corners of the structure are defined by projecting brick piers. On the narrow facade (north), the store front, while altered, retains its original configuration, with the principal entrance centered and recessed between two commercial windows. Above a moulded wooden cornice, an oriel window with a moulded surround and flared eaves is set in the second storey. The building is protected by a hip roof with a wide cornice, two dormers, and an octagonal turret. The turret, capped with a conical roof, has wooden piers separating its windows. All roof surfaces are presently clad with hexagonal asphalt shingles.

Two brick pilasters divide the long west wall where the openings are set according to function. The east elevation, separated from the neighbouring building by a narrow passage, displays a painted advertisement. The rear (south) wall contains another entry to the commercial portion. The building anchors the southeast corner of Queen Street and Leuty Avenue in the area recognized as the urban centre of the Beaches.

The Scadding Confectionery is a unique structure in the Beaches with its freestanding form, brick construction, and architectural features. Its distinctive turret and its position on a prominent intersection identify the building as an important local landmark on Queen Street East.
