

TORONTO Auditor General's Office

The Auditor General, reporting directly to Council through the Audit Committee, performs independent appraisals of the City's operations and programs, and provides impartial and objective assurance to City Council.

The Auditor General's mandate consists of compliance, value-for-money, environmental and forensic investigations, and covers the activities and functions of the City's divisions, agencies, boards and commissions. In addition, the Auditor General is responsible for overseeing the work of the external auditor, who provides an opinion on the fairness of information in the City's financial statements. The Auditor General also manages the City's Fraud and Waste Hotline Program.
