I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that at my lowest point someone said they were there for me. I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that at my lowest point someone said they were there for me. I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that at my lowest point someone said they were there for me. I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that at my lowest point someone said they were there for me. I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that at my lowest point someone said they were there for me. I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that at my lowest point someone said they were there for me. I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that at my lowest point someone said they were there for me. I wish that someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said that they believed me. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that at my lowest point someone said they were there for me. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that when I doubted everything in my life someone said they believed me. I wish that when I felt alone someone asked me if I was okay. I wish that someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that at my lowest point someone said they were there for me. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that at my lowest point someone asked me if I needed help. I was okay, I wish that someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that at my lowest point someone asked me if I needed help. I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that at my lowest point someone asked me if I needed help. I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that at my lowest point someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I didn't deserve what was happening. I wish that someone said I shouldn't have to go through this. I wish that when I had no self esteem left someone said I was worth something. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was broken and in pieces someone said I'm sorry you are being hurt. I wish that someone asked me if I needed help. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that when I was overcome with guilt someone told me it wasn't my fault. I wish that when I doubted everything in my

Why not? If you think someone you know is experiencing abuse, talk to them. It may be the help they need.

Learn more at TorontoForAll.ca

