

STOP 12 – THE ORIGINAL DOOR KNOB

One of the reasons for the escalating costs of City Hall was due to Lennox's eye for details. This extended to almost every kind of furnishing either moveable or fixed, down to the wardrobes, work tables and handrails. It even included the doorknobs that bear the coat of arms for the City of Toronto.

Room 257 still has one of the original door knobs that drew Lennox's attention.
