Please do not forget to update this form each time any contact information changes

Please note: Participants 10 years of age or older may walk home unaccompanied from the CLASP program at 6 pm if permission is granted on the Participant Information Form by the caregiver. Some participants may be required to leave at an earlier time, and in this circumstance caregivers must provide a signed and dated note specifying the time the participant can leave the program unaccompanied. Staff will only dismiss the participant at the time indicated.

Medication

If a participant requires an auto-injector for allergies or has any health concerns, please contact the ARC/CLASP office at 416-338-2512 prior to their first day attending the program. In addition, please speak with your onsite CLASP Coordinator to complete and review an Administration of Medication Form, to ensure that staff are aware of all precautions that may need to be taken. Participants with an auto-injector and/or asthma puffers must wear a waist-pack containing their labelled medication at all times during program. At registration, it will be identified whether participants attend the school where the CLASP program takes place, if they will be arriving by school bus, coming on their own, dropped off by an adult. They CANNOT take younger siblings home as stated above to sign out a child you must be 12 years of age or older.

CLASP/ARC Safe Arrival and Dismissal:

All participants must be signed in and out of the program each day. Program staff will call the caregiver and emergency contact numbers within the first half hour, to follow up with any unexplained absences, and confirm that the participant will not be attending that day. If the child's whereabouts are not confirmed, CLASP's emergency plan will be implemented. Should you forget to inform CLASP staff of a participant's absence, please be aware that staff will be calling you from site cell phones that will may display as unknown caller. Unfortunately, some site cell phone numbers do not come up displaying the City of Toronto or the CLASP site name. What Makes CLASP a Quality Program?

In order to provide quality programming staff are trained to deliver innovative program models and CLASP programs are evaluated on an on-going basis throughout the year. For more information on our program models please read below:

HIGH FIVE

The City of Toronto is a registered organization with HIGH FIVE, Canada's only comprehensive quality standard for children's sport and recreation programs. HIGH FIVE identifies 5 principles of healthy child development that are essential for quality programs: a caring adult, the opportunity to play, make friends, master skills and participate. HIGH FIVE teaches leaders to understand these principles and how to provide quality programming using a child-centred approach. HIGH FIVE training also provides leaders with the skills to identify and resolve conflict and bullying. The physical and emotional safety of all participants is always our first priority.

HIGH FIVE training, resources and evaluative processes have been developed to empower organizations to focus on the elements that impact healthy child development and to instill quality in sport and recreation programming for children.

Physical Literacy

When children have the opportunity to learn a wide range of physical skills, they acquire the basic building blocks that will give them the competence and confidence to try many different physical activities and sports. We call this physical literacy. Developing physical literacy involves learning fundamental movement skills. Physically literate individuals are able to demonstrate a variety of movements confidently, competently, creatively and strategically across a wide range of health-related physical activities. These skills enable individuals to make healthy, active choices. Research has shown that being physically active later in life depends on an individual's ability to feel confident in an activity setting. That confidence most often comes from having learned fundamental movement and sport skills, or physical literacy, as a child. Physical activity accounts for 30% of CLASP programming in order to create opportunities for participants to develop physical literacy skills.

Play It Fair!

Play It Fair! is an innovative program implemented in children's programs for 6 – 12 year olds across Canada. Play It Fair! increases children's understanding of human rights, respect for diversity and peaceful conflict resolution. Interactive age appropriate activities and games from Play It Fair! reinforce the positive values and fundamental principles of human dignity and equality set out in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Play It Fair! games and activities provide a starting point for children to discuss issues in their lives and work together to find ways to promote inclusion, respect, fairness, acceptance and cooperation.

Speaking Rights

Speaking Rights builds on lessons learned and relationships developed through Play It Fair! Speaking Rights activities engage 13-18 year old youth in exploring human rights issues and identifying strategies to combat discrimination and exclusion while promoting respect for diversity. The program centers on the active participation of youth by developing their ability to discuss issues that are important to them and to work collaboratively on activities that community-build and solve conflicts peacefully. The Speaking Rights approach is used by organizations across Canada and around the world.

Code of Conduct Policy

The Toronto Parks, Forestry and Recreation Division endeavours to provide programs and services that promote a safe, welcoming, positive and inclusive environment where differences are valued. All staff and program participants and parks and facility users are expected to be considerate, to respect people and their rights, and to show proper care and regard for City property and the property of others.

Toronto Parks, Forestry and Recreation staff, volunteers and participants, are expected to demonstrate concern for the dignity, health, safety, and well-being of others, and to abstain from any conduct intended to intimidate or humiliate others, or to harm City property.

Any behaviour that violates Toronto Parks, Forestry and Recreation's Code of Conduct may result in a suspension of the right to participate in the program and/or a ban from property.

Child and Youth Guidance policy

The Child and Youth Behaviour Guidance Policy provides a framework for staff to manage child and youth behaviour in programs, support individuals to participate, and ensure the safety of participants and staff.

The Policy recognizes individual development and differences among children and youth; and considers any special needs.
