Introduction

A record is information recorded or stored in any manner, including print, film, digital or otherwise. The content may include reports, forms, financial statements, minutes, correspondence, email, maps, photographs and more.

Records held by municipal governments are regulated by the provincial Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (MFIPPA), the Personal Health Information Protection Act (PHIPA) and the City of Toronto Act. MFIPPA states that, in general, the public has a right to access government records and to get copies of them (fees apply). There are specific exemptions to general access to records, especially regarding personal information.

Records are made available in numerous ways:

Routine disclosure: Divisions and program areas automatically make information available to the public when it is requested, and by publishing it online or in a printed form such as brochures and reports.

Formal request: When a division or program area denies a request for information, a formal Freedom of Information request can be made through the City Clerk's Office, Corporate Information Management Services.

By appeal: If a Freedom of Information request is denied by the City, the decision can be appealed to the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Ontario.
