

Point of Engagement

Word of mouth and social media were the most significant ways that respondents heard about the consultation process.

