Statement from the Office of the Integrity Commissioner:
Inquiries concerning Mayor Chow's November 1, 2025 statement

November 12, 2025

The Toronto Integrity Commissioner acknowledges that B'nai Brith has filed a complaint with our Office concerning comments Mayor Chow made at the National Council of Canadian Muslims on November 1, 2025.

Our Office generally does not confirm whether a complaint has been received on a particular matter. However, if someone publicly discloses their complaint, our Office will confirm this. We have advised the Mayor of this complaint.

The Office has received over 10,000 inquiries on this matter. It is not feasible to respond to each inquiry individually, so we are publicly acknowledging receipt of these communications.

The number of requests for an investigation does not influence the Integrity Commissioner's decision-making process. Our Office's Complaint and Application Procedures require only one properly filed complaint to begin an intake review. In that review, the Integrity Commissioner determines whether the complaint establishes sufficient jurisdictional grounds for an investigation. We will advise both parties on the outcome of this review.

Our Office will provide no further comment on this matter.
